Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 11-14 and 17-24 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 6-15 of copending Application No. 09935975 in view of Janes.

Both sets of claims recite the use of a soundboard comprising a core plate with and fiber coatings that are multidirectional.

The difference between the application number 09935973 and 09935975 is the use of a recess.

This element is disclosed in the Janes reference. Janes discloses that one recess in the core plate takes up the entire thickness of the core plate (see figure 3). Janes also discloses that at least one recess (26) occupies only a part of the thickness of the core plate, which has individual layers that are composed of fiber and laminates.

It would have been obvious to ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the application of 09935975 with the recess as disclosed in Janes in order to enhance tonal quality.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 11-14 and 17- 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sawada et al Kamijyo in view of Decker, Jr. et al.

Sawada et al discloses the use of a soundboard for an acoustical musical instrument comprising a core plate having two opposite faces and a plurality of single layer fiber sections adhered on at least one of the faces of the core plate, each of said fiber sections being composed of elongate fibers embedded in a carrier.

Sawada does not disclose the specific use of coatings and multidirectional fibers.

Kamijyo discloses the use of multidirectional long fibers, which are embedded in a matrix, and the use of a coating (13).

Sawada and Kamijyo do not disclose the use of dampening zones and varying thicknesses.

Decker, Jr. et al discloses the use of a soundboard for a musical instrument comprising a single or a double layer (column 3, lines 25-32). Decker further discloses the use of dampening zones and a plate has different thicknesses (see figure 3)).

Decker, Jr. et al also discloses the use of a composite material used to make stringed musical instruments using a fiber coating (column 4, lines 48-55) distributed over the entire area. Decker, Jr. et al discloses that the fibers on the upper face of the core plate deviate from the run of the fibers on the lower face of the plate (see figure 7).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art time the invention was made to modify the device as disclosed by Sawada with the layered fiber section as disclosed by Sawada et al and the coating as disclosed by Kamijyo and the dampening zones as disclosed by Decker, Jr. in order to obtain a soundboard with sustained durability and a variance of musical tones.

3. Claims 15 and 16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11-14 and 17- 24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.
